

Luxury listing marketing burns hours — and dollars — every week.

Agents still rebuild brochures in Word/Canva: hunt photos, paste MLS facts, fight templates. At Silicon Valley agent time (~$75–$150/hr loaded), a 2–4 hour flyer is $150–$600 per designer invoice. Multiply by listings/month and the “free tool” is the expensive path.

BEFORE — “Free” tools that aren’t free

- Blank Canva/Word → rebuild brand every listing
- Photo hunting + fact copy-paste + QA loops
- Inconsistent seller materials → weaker listing launch
- Hidden cost: agent hours + opportunity cost of showings not booked

AFTER — URL → branded template → edit → $$ saved

- 1 Paste Compass listing URL (photos + facts)
- 2 Auto-fill luxury branded template
- 3 Human edit only the gaps — not rebuild
- 4 Print/PDF in minutes → more listings/week

Turn marketing labor into productized margin — Jason Lim · Compass · DRE #02444964

Compass URL in. Luxury brochure out — in minutes.

Listing Brochure Studio turns a compass.com listing link into a magazine-style brochure: scraped photos and facts, branded layout, neighborhood info, and more. Print/PDF — then agents edit only what's missing.

What the agent (and seller) get

- Minutes instead of multi-hour Canva rebuilds — labor saved compounds every listing
- On-brand Compass / jasonlimrealty.com presentation: hero, gallery, map, agent CTA
- Editable brochure controls: reorder photos, set cover, fill baths/sqft before PDF
- Live today on Hugging Face: jasonnlim-listing-brochure-studio-jason-realty.static.hf.space

| Observe    | LangSmith traces: which photos/facts imported, what stayed blank — debug scrape gaps. |
| Analyze    | API payload vs brochure output. Completeness score before PDF.                        |
| Generate   | LLM luxury copy polish grounded in scraped facts — editable overrides.                |
| Distribute | MLS/IDX sync · batch brochures · seller share links · brokerage brand kits.           |

Back-of-envelope (illustrative)

Example: 8 listings/month × 3 hrs saved × $100/hr ≈ $2,400/month labor unlocked per active agent — before designer fees or faster time-to-market. Team/brokerage sea
